

Training contracts

We offer a small number of training contracts each year in our Hong Kong office. This small intake means you will gain the maximum amount of training, hands-on experience and opportunities to get involved in real life cases, attending client meetings and contribute to substantive legal work.

As a Dentons trainee, you will be given all the responsibility you can handle. The supportive team around you will include a dedicated supervisor, a trainee partner and your buddy. You will spend six months in each of four of our key practice areas where you will become involved in all aspects of client work.

You will be redirected to the page where you can apply for this position

Accept